To whom it may concern,

We began our project in challenging economic times. After several proposals from very good contractors, we chose TRB Development Group to build our new child care facility "Imprints Day School". From the very first meeting, the TRB team had a keen eye for detail and completeness. Like every project, there are items along the way which need special consideration and coordination. The entire team was always available to proactively address each of them as well as coordinate closely with the Architect. We had a specific budget in mind and were able to refine the methods and materials through value engineering during several meetings with TRB and our Architect. We were so impressed with the professionalism and courtesy TRB afforded us during the initial planning phase through to completion of the project.

We could not be happier with our building and TRB made sure we were exactly on schedule and within our planned budget. The entire team was a joy to work with on every level of management. We will continue our relationship with TRB in the future and would highly recommend them from simple, budget minded projects up to high end commercial construction.
